

First of all, limiting broadcasting is akin to limiting freedom of speech. It also allows an industry to restrict who can and cannot enter their industry. Isn't this just another type of monopoly?

On a personal and safety note. I am an aircraft salesman, our new Cessna's and many other manufacturers planes are being equipped to receive XM radio, the instant weather can be extremely beneficial to a pilot in a small plane that has no radar service. Currently we have no system that can do this, the adding of the XM system will enhance safety for small planes.
